COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

There is to be a public meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p. m.

at Odson Hall to discuss the Act passed by the 193rd Legislature to establish a Bethel Water District. This will be held on June 7th at the special town meeting.

The voting on the article will be done at the Fire Station in the same manner as elections are held, that is, during the day by secret ballot. In the evening there will be articles presented on other matters for the consideration of the townspeople. This will be done in the usual manner of a regular town meeting.

It is planned to have new folding booths at the Fire Station by June 7th. Rodney Brooks is in the process of building them at the present time. The old booths were in very poor condition plus the fact that they were difficult to town down and assemble each time an election is held.

Elwyn Dickey

As coming approaches we reach this beautiful month of May when millions of Americans will wear the little red crepe paper poppy to honor our dead and help the living veterans and their families.

Poppies made by our veterans are being sold on hospital wards come forth on Poppy Day and rest over every loyal American's heart where the memory of great sacrifices made by many is forever enshrined.

Look well into the tiny face of one single red paper poppy. It shines with broadened love, fulfillment of hopes, payment for education, paying of household bills, thought for others; substantial support for loved ones, the answer to dreams. Can any other flower mean so much and stand

OXFORD COUNTY EXTENSION BUDGET RESTORED TO $17,500

A meeting of the Oxford County Commissioners and Oxford County Extension officials ended in an agreement by the commissioners to restore the 1967-68 and 1968-69 Extension budgets to $17,500 each year. This amount was the figure approved by the state legislature when they voted the Oxford County budget in March. The $17,500 represents a $3,000 cut from the original request submitted by Extension officials.

It was generally agreed that Extension would stay within the budget figure. The money is used for rent, utilities, program of snow, secretarial help, office supplies, and a small portion of agents' salaries.

The $17,500 is approximately 14-16% of the total expense of Extension in Oxford County, which is largely supported by the University of Maine, cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Extension President Frank Morse, said, "We're very pleased with the outcome of the May 16th meeting with the commissioners. This means Extension can carry out the program planned with out certain curtailment."

for so much as this little red crepe paper poppy."

The poppy cannot speak but its courageous red color glows to encourage it needs you to help. Please help it to glow. Please help that glow to make the many veterans and their families who are groping in the darkness of despair.

STUDENTS ACQUIRING NEWSPAPER READING HABIT SAYS STATE DEPT.

Parents of Maine's elementary and secondary students from Fort Kent to Kittery, Eastport to Bethel, are noticing an increased interest in local, national and international affairs on the part of their children.

This interest is being stimulated by a new approach in many Maine schools to newspaper reading. Whether they are in the fifth grade or seniors in high school, students are acquiring the newspaper reading habit by almost as simple a means as by being exposed to it. They are discovering that newspapers have something more to offer than comics and the sports pages.

Students are learning the basic functions of the press: to inform; to advise; to interpret and persuade; to perform a service to readers and advertisers; and to entertain and educate. They are learning to read newspapers regularly and critically.

Teachers are correlating the news with English, reading, mathematics, history, geography, and economics to vitalize these subjects.

The direction for this program is coming from the Maine State Department of Education. Brian Hanson, who has been directing the program for 18 months, is a former teacher and school principal. He holds regional seminars for interested teachers, speaks to future teachers, to students in their classrooms and to interested civic groups. Teacher's guides, study materials and filmstrips are distributed by his office.

Newspapers are being furnished at a reduced rate by six of Maine's daily newspapers for use with classroom groups. Indication of the spreading interest among Maine teachers is evident in the increased orders for newspapers
